- What is an elephant? A rhino? A giraffe? A shark? Surely these are animals, and that is what the dictionary says. But what is life? Isn't it just a series of different chemical combinations? Aren't these different combinations, the laws of which govern the interactions and functions of a living organism, the definition of life? What can an organism feel, and what are emotions? What exactly is consciousness? What is emotion? What is an act of consciousness? Would" - 4
- What is a lemur? Like the words "dog" and "cat," the term "lemur" is one of those words that doesn't really have a precise meaning. "Lemur" is both a noun and a verb, and it refers to a class of primates, but in a general sense, it's just an umbrella term for the primates that live in Madagascar. There are over 200 species of lemur, but for the sake of this explanation - 6
- 'How are you doing? You're looking well. I'm afraid I've been neglecting you. I've been so overwhelmed trying to run this show, I haven't seen you, I haven't come to you. - 'What is an elephant? The answer, according to the National Geographic online encyclopedia, is "a large member of the order Pilosa." The term elephant originates from the Indo-European root *xer, which has two related senses: to pull or to drag, as in the case of a boat that goes at a great pace, or an elephant pulling a sled. In zoology, an elephant is a large, flightless, and herbivorous mammal, weighing - 9
- "What is a lemur? What is a lemur? I think we all know what a lemur is. We all know the cute cartoon lemurs of the Disney movies, and we've all seen the fuzzy little furry creatures in the commercials for baby formula. But what really is a lemur? Like all creatures on this planet that are not humans or chimps, lemurs are unique. They are a family, or at least a family group, - 6

- 'What is a computer? In the most basic sense, it is an electronic machine with several components, one of which is a data processor. However, to understand a computer, you must first understand a computer language. The human mind takes input and makes a series of decisions to give the desired output, but a machine must take a string of ones and zeros and turn them into text. This is where computer languages come into play. These programming languages allow a computer to make decisions by reading - 9
- "Who is Elon Musk? The answer is simple: He's not a politician. No, you're not imagining it. Tesla CEO Elon Musk is a very serious guy who is not particularly interested in political positions or campaign trail politics and who doesn't see the need for one. But he's also not the sort of CEO you imagine going around making empty promises and selling products he's not really enthusiastic about. In fact, as the CEO of Tesla and SpaceX and the co - 7

- "Mad Max is a film that changed my world with its shocking plot and an unflinching portrayal of the human condition. The film's opening scene is not unlike an urban disaster film, with the protagonist wandering through the ruins of LA. But unlike many disaster films, Max is not a victim who cannot escape his misfortune. In fact, he is a man who has made a bold statement to his fellow man: "You will never be able to do anything about this, but you can control your - 10
- 'What is an elephant? You've seen the movie, The Lion King. Everyone knows the story now - King Louie (voiced by Ben Pridmore) is a little person on a big island. The man behind the wheel of The Boneyard said that the people who shot up a movie theater in Aurora, Colo. were wearing masks and that there was an "explosion of glass as the camera is going in," according to a report by The New York Times. "They didn't kill everyone," he continued. "You didn't - 3
- 'Mad Max is a very dark and depressing book. It's a movie that's very sad, not so much on the surface, because it's a movie well-adapted to the form, but rather on the heartlessness that comes with the way in which the story is told. There are so many unanswered questions about this movie that I couldn't even begin to answer them, so I'll keep this a short review, because I can' - 5

- "How are you doing? I am so proud! You did such a terrific job making the bed! Diana: I'm sorry I couldn't do it, but it was very difficult. Girard: Yeah, you could have, but you needed me. I'm glad you didn't have to leave me. Leanne: I know, I know...I was just getting a bit tired of the bed. Girard: What? - 3
- "Guess my weight (I lost 6 pounds since this diet) And I lost 4 inches on my tush (I think that's it) If you are not familiar with the term tush, it's very common for men to have erections or orgasms while in their pants, just like the girl in the picture above (in fact, women have been experiencing it for centuries) While the phenomenon is a well known one, there is a little known way of reversing that. - 3
- 'Can you dance? No, I'm not your dancing master and I'm not your dance teacher! You can't do this on your own! It's not fun at all!" "This is why I'm a teacher!" In response to her, Shiroe said at the beginning of episode 14, "I don't have any special power. I just make sure you stay strong, you know?" "You're my secret weapon?" On October 12, - 4
- 'Good day to you, sir!" she said, and then went into the kitchen, where she made herself a glass of wine. "You will go away to-morrow evening," said the master of the house. "The maids are out, and she will go with you out, she will be with you until you go." The woman was delighted at that idea, and went off. The next day they were once more in the yard, and the master of the house - 9
- 'What is a computer? A computer is a device that makes use of computers in order to do a particular task. For example, we might use a computer to search for information on the Internet. A computer is considered "smart" if it makes good use of its operating system. The term "smart device" should not be confused with the concept of a computer, which is a type of device that makes use of other types of devices, such as a keyboard or mouse. There - 6

- "What is an elephant? An elephant is a large, stocky, hairy beast with a strong, muscular body, with a trunk like a bull's, and hoofs like a horse's. It is an herbivore and a large, strong animal. (Some even say an alligator.) It weighs about 3,500 pounds (1,852 kg), making it the largest living animal on the planet. As a member of the Carniv - 6
- "What is a lemur? Lemurs are about the same size as a cow or chicken. They are a mammal that inhabits Africa and Asia, but they also exist in southern Europe, the Middle East and South America. While some of them are native to Africa, others are in Asia. Lemurs are an animal that has long been recognized as having a unique evolutionary history. As you'll recall, the Neanderthals and our own species of Homo sapiens were - 5
- 'How are you doing? Are you feeling better?' "I'm not feeling any better," I replied, "I can't imagine anything is better if I'm walking in a snowstorm." "I understand, but I still think you could use a little help. How did you get your new coat?" "I got it by chance. A few people were in the shop for me and they thought I looked good. They brought me along and I was wearing the coat - 9
- "Guess my weight. It's a big question that is getting more and more popular every week. For example, one blogger claimed that he is 2 pounds lighter than we were when he started his blog. If you've been wondering how you've been doing on that scale, here's a short answer. How I keep track of my body weight I don't usually keep track of my weight in my blog because I don't tend to see the metric unit used much and - 6

- 'Are you alive? The answer is YES, and I need to get back to work!' I thought. The only way I can make this information public is if people can look back and see that it wasn't some complete hoax. So, I started to write all the posts together, then I asked a friend of mine to do the layout, I edited the post up on Reddit, and the public started to see it. The whole thing was pretty entertaining, and it got a - 6
- "Mad Max is a film about women and men and the violence that they face. Because it's a movie, it's always the women who suffer. But they're not the only ones. They're just the ones who suffer the most. Men die in wars, women die in car wrecks, men die in murders. Some of the men and some of the women fall victim to the same kind of violence. But the women get the short end of the stick. This is a film - 6
